CHICKENS, CHICKENS—Crates of chickens were scattered everywhere Monday morning when this ConAgra truck hauling hens to the dressing plant lost part of its load in a curve on the Brantley Highway near Elba city limits. Truck driver Kenny Ware of Elba said he did not know what happened, but as he went around the curve he felt the load shifting and his main concern was to prevent the entire truck from overturning. Crates in the center stack as well as the back stack shown in the photo spilled from the truck. Several hundred chickens were killed and many others were running loose when the truck finally stopped.

Fire Insurance Rates Drop For Elba Property Owners

By CYNDI MADDOX

Most Elba residents can expect a small reduction in rates on fire insurance for their homes and businesses starting August 1.

The decline in costs is a result of the City of Elba dropping from a fire protection Class 8 rating to a Class 7. City officials were notified earlier this week of the improved status in a letter from the Insurance Services Office of Alabama.

According to figures quoted by several local insurance agents, most policyowners can expect their rates to drop from 5 to 12 percent. One agent estimated that residential rates will decrease about 5 percent, and commercial, 10 to 12 percent. "But this is very generalized. People can expect a slight reduction as a result of this fire re-classification, but there is no way to give a certain figure," he explained.

New rates will be based on the individual policies, and some commercial rates will not decrease at all, because the policies levy the same rates for Class 8 and Class 7.

Elba Mayor Bob English credited the volunteer fire department and water department for the improved fire rating.

Representatives from the Insurance Services Office visited the city several weeks ago and conducted a survey to determine the classification in order to develop fire insurance rates. The hydrants which were tested are located at Collier Street and North Factory Avenue; North Factory and Davis Street; Dunham and Hickman Streets; Hwy. 84 and Boswell Avenue; Highland Drive and Smith Street.

Fire Chief Lloyd Driggers said he plans to initiate several projects that will hopefully result in the classification changing to Class 6 when inspectors return in a year.

He said in order to drop further in the ratings, the city needs a new fire truck; new fire plugs in Brookdale; increased water flow to the schools; and an improved training program for the firemen. The fire plugs are currently being installed and the training program is underway. The mayor noted that the city water department is scheduled to soon start working on the water flow problem and he plans to include a fire truck in next year's budget.

According to Driggers only two other cities in Alabama—Montevallo and Trussville—with volunteer fire departments are rated as low as Class 6.

One insurance agent said even though the new classification becomes effective August 1, most companies stipulate that rates cannot be changed until the policy's anniversary (renewal) date.

According to one agency's figures, under a Class 8 policy, the annual rates for the best homeowners policy on a $50,000 brick home is $219. Under the new rating it will drop to $209 a year. The same $100 deductible policy for a $60,000 home is currently $266 a year, but will drop to $255 for Class 7.

Board Of Ed. Receives Three Applications

The Elba City Board of Education met earlier this week to establish guidelines for screening applicants for school superintendent. The post will become vacant August 31 when current Superintendent Elmer Taylor retires.

Taylor announced his retirement plans to a surprised school board last week. He has served as superintendent of the city school system for the past 17 years.

According to Board Chairman Doug Martin, three applications have already been submitted for the job and several other people have either called or visited the superintendent's office to inquire about the position.

Martin said a policy listing the qualifications for the position was adopted in 1963. The school board plans to abide by that policy and added three more qualifications to the list.

The revised policy states: I. The superintendent must have earned a master's degree from an accredited institution and have a major in school administration;

II. The superintendent must have a minimum of ten years successful experience as an educator with five years spent in an administrative position;

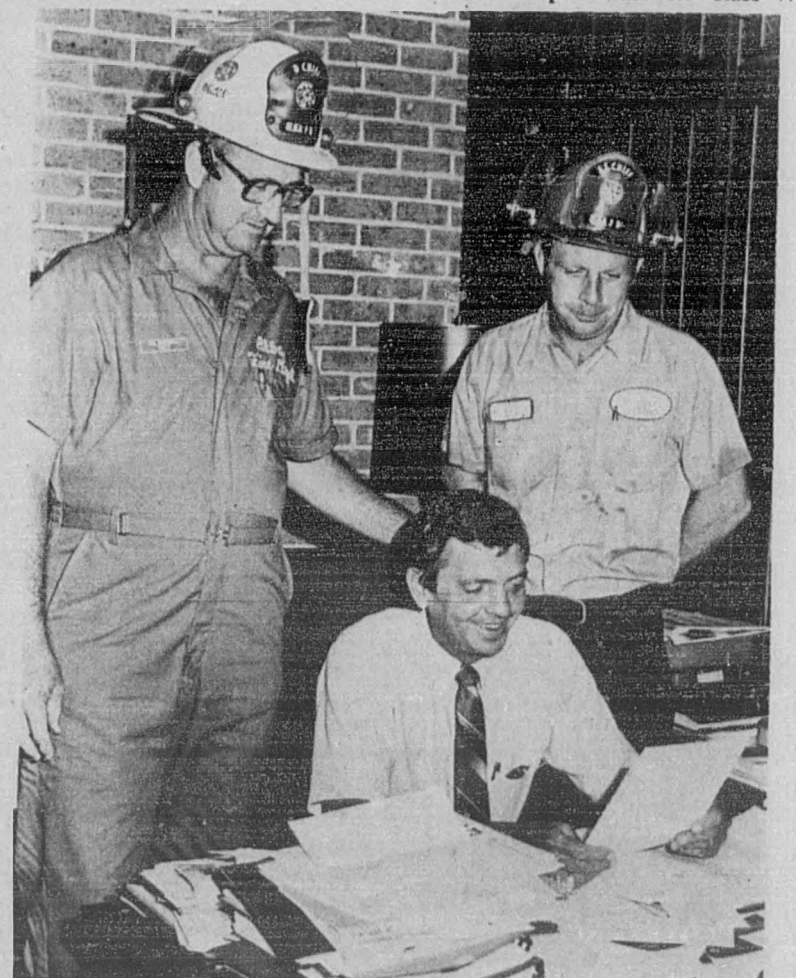

III. The person must be established as a recognized educational leader;

IV. The person must live in the city of Elba;

V. He or she must not be engaged in any other gainful employment;

VI. The person selected for the post must be financially solvent.

State law allows the school board 90 days from the date of Taylor's retirement to hire a new superintendent. Board members said they plan to carefully select a successor to Taylor, but they also hope to make the decision quickly since school starts August 24.

GOOD NEWS—Fire Chief Lloyd Driggers, Mayor Bob English, and Fireman Larry Goodson read the announcement that fire insurance rates are going down for many Elba residents.

Hospital Adding Emergency Unit--Nursing Home Wing

By CYNDI MADDOX

A major expansion and renovation project which has been on the drawing boards for the past seven years is expected to begin the first of October at Elba General Hospital and Nursing Home.

When the project is completed, the nursing home will be able to accommodate 24 additional beds; for the first time the local medical facility will have an emergency department instead of one room designated for emergency care; there will be a new and more energy-efficient dietary department; and laboratory facilities will be expanded.

Bids on the hospital construction and renovation will be opened on July 28 in Montgomery at the office of McCall and Associates, the architectural firm for the project. According to Jim Nichols, administration at Elba General, it will take about 60 days before any work is started. Once the project is launched, he expects it to be completed approximately 16 months later.

The first phase of the project will be the new nursing home wing which will extend from what is now the front entrance of the nursing home into the existing parking lot. According to Nichols, this construction will consume about one-third of the parking lot, which is often overcrowded now. Nichols said employees' parking will be moved to the back area of the hospital, allowing more space for patients and visitors in the front area.

The new 24-bed addition will give the nursing home a total of 71 beds. The nursing home opened in 1967 with 40 beds and in 1975, seven more were added. However, Nichols added, the facility has outgrown its space again.

When the hospital was built in 1963, the plans included only one emergency room and no waiting area. Often, Nichols explained, multiple emergencies will be brought in at the same time and yet there is not adequate space for the patients. Also, with only the one room, all cases are classified as emergencies, whereas the majority could be classified as out-patient care.

"We consider ear aches, minor cuts, stomach viruses, and other such sicknesses to be out-patient cases. Actually it is only classified as an emergency when there is the danger of a loss of life, limb, or eyesight," Nichols explained.

The new emergency area, which will extend behind the current emergency room, will be approximately 12 times larger than the existing facility. It will include three trauma areas and three out-patient rooms. The trauma areas will be equipped with tables which the patient remains on until he is either transferred, released, or taken to surgery. "As long as the patient is on the trauma table, we will be able to do anything from minor surgery on down." These rooms will be separated only by curtains in cases where medical personnel need a larger area for handling some of the more severe emergencies.

"This is designed to give us a lot more versatility than we have now," said Nichols.

The hospital reception area, insurance, admissions, and communication offices will also be moved into this new addition. Currently there is not a receptionist on duty past 9 p.m., but when the project is completed the reception desk will be manned around-the-clock. A new waiting room with 14-21 chairs will also be added to the emergency wing.

When the present dietary department was initially constructed, it was designed for a 28-bed facility. Therefore when the northeast wing of the hospital was built in 1971 the rooms had outgrown the kitchen facility. A new kitchen, staff dining room and general storage area will be included in the dietary wing.

When this area is completed, the present dietary unit will be converted into an expanded laboratory.

"With this remodeling we will have about six times the lab space that we have now. Currently we cannot perform much of the bacteriology and chemistry that we need. Therefore we have to send this to other hospitals. With a larger laboratory, we can perform the tests here, which means faster results," said the hospital administrator.

Several energy-saving devices will also be installed to control the heating, cooling, and electrical systems in the hospital. An incinerator will be installed to handle 100 percent wet refuse. According to Nichols, with the incinerator, the refuse can be converted into energy and used to pre-heat water.

Once the bids are opened, studied, and awarded, construction of the nursing home wing is expected to begin immediately. Then the dietary and general storage area must be completed before starting on the emergency room and laboratory renovation.

"We have not finalized our plans on how to handle emergencies while the construction is underway, but I'm sure we will have that worked out before it gets started."

There will also be a period when the air-conditioning and heating units in the hospital must be shut down while new systems are installed. However, Nichols said this phase of the project can probably be scheduled for early spring after heat is no longer necessary and before cooling is needed.

"The emergency, dietary, and laboratory units are our keys to any further expansions. You just can't add beds without adding services to take care of them," noted Nichols. "We will now have adequate service for up to 125 beds."

Once this project is completed, Nichols said the next series of long-range plans include adding more rooms, expanding the X-ray department and obstetrics suite, a new nursery and operating rooms.

FEATHERS A'FLYING—ConAgra truck driver Kenny Ware is busy catching up with loose hens while he waits for help from the plant to straighten up the load so he could continue his trip.

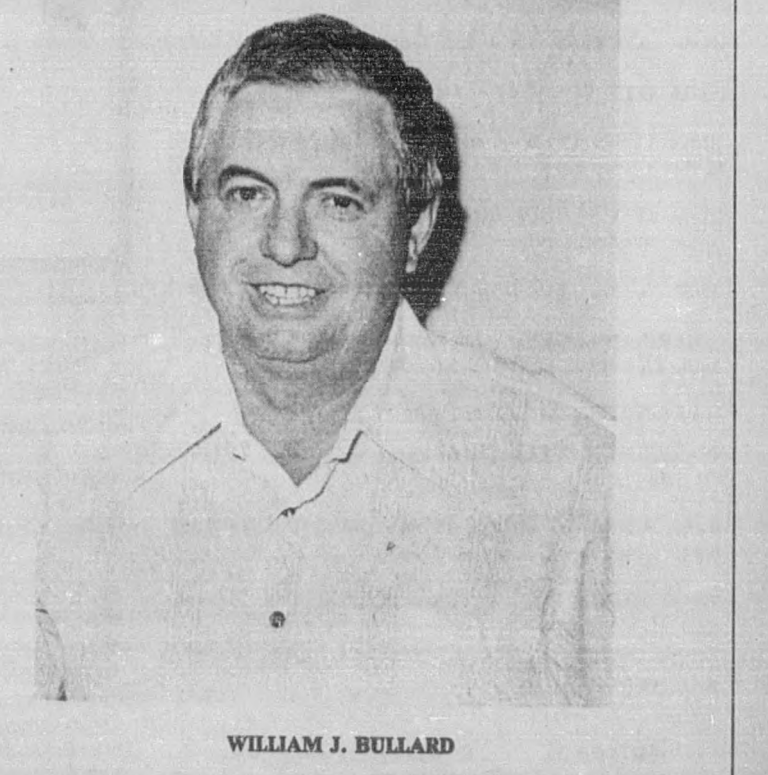

Bullard Named Postmaster

William J. (Bill) Bullard, an employee of the United States Postal Service for more than 20 years, has been named the new postmaster at the Elba Post Office.

Sectional Center Manager and Postmaster A.E. Andrews, of Mobile, announced the appointment on July 11. In a letter announcing Bullard's promotion Andrews stated the postmaster selection was made on the basis of merit from a list of qualified candidates submitted to the Regional Management Selection Board. The board, composed of a postal regional director or a postal district manager and two postmasters, selects and recommends to the Postmaster General the best qualified person to fill the vacancy.

Bullard, a native of Brundidge, has lived in Elba for 35 years and is a graduate of Elba High School. He began working at the local Post Office in 1960 as a substitute clerk. At the time of his promotion he had been superintendent of postal operations in Elba for the past six years.

He is married to Ann Bell Bullard and they have one son, Andy, age 20.

Governor James is holding his town meetings around the state to give ample publicity to his reform proposals. Some - if not all - have merit; but we hope Bob has learned enough politics since the first hundred times he has been slapped down by the Alabama legislature, that he will "lose the war for the want of a horseshoe nail." We think the first priority during the upcoming special session should be the education budget for next year. . . nothing more, nothing less. After this matter is out of the way, we will release Governor James and the other elected officials to start politicking for the 1982 elections to their hearts' content, even at taxpayers' expense for a few days.

The news that Elba has been officially given a lower insurance rating by the rating bureau is good news. The actual savings to local citizens may not be as much as desired, but it is a step in the right direction. Apparently with a little bit of effort and some luck, it can be lowered another step next year and we understand these insurance premium savings will be even better! The local fire department is doing a great job, as reflected in this action by the rating bureau, and with some additional equipment and continued efforts on their part, this further reduction is a strong possibility.

Folks in California are foaming at the mouth because someone wants to spray for the fruit fly with a chemical called Malathion. We sure ain't experts on dangerous chemicals but we see Coffee County folks using the same stuff in their gardens every year and they haven't gotten sick yet. In fact some Coffee County gardeners would just about quit gardening if they couldn't have their Malathion or something similar!

Enterprise Junior College President B.A. Forrester has announced he is retiring as of September 30. He apparently left some members of his faculty in shock, as he had five more years before it became mandatory for him to retire. Now it will be interesting to see the direction this highly respected school takes under new leadership. The key will be the quality of the person named to replace Forrester. At Forrester will understand better than anyone when we say we hope for even better graduates from the new administration than the present. . . he will understand because he is always striving himself to improve the students at ESJC.

Those who are real concerned about the strike of the major league baseball players can relax a bit now "cause the federal government is stepping in to solve the problem! We know that Secretary of Labor Ray Donovan can solve this problem because he has solved all the problems of the federal government in less than a year! Actually, we believe he should be worrying about the potential strike of the postal employees. Their contract runs out about next week and without them there wouldn't be anyone to deliver the welfare checks! We may suffer discomfort without a baseball game on the tube, but those of us "on the draw" will get awful hungry without those checks in the mail.

Our family went to Six Flags last weekend right in that hot, hot sun. Several times we older editor backed up against a wall and just watched that horde of people. We readily allow ourselves to be herded around very much like cattle and hogs at the local stockyards. Then we pay three or four times what we would pay our neighbors for food, drink and trinkets and don't bat an eye. We do all this in the name of "fun" and "to have a good time"; so I guess it's O.K. Incidentally - we had a good time.

Most of us who go somewhere like Six Flags almost kill ourselves trying to do it all and see all. Occasionally we figure out ways to beat the system and not be so exhausted but to see and do all. Saturday we found a family who did a better job than we older editor in that department. Dr. Jim Boyce and family were among the first in the park at 10 a.m. and were still going strong the last time our tired bodies saw them after 10 p.m. Saturday night. Jim and Linda often divided up the three children to follow various interests and figured out a way to mix in enjoying sitting down (eating, drinking, etc.) at the right time to keep everyone from collapsing from the heat. Even their youngest child seemed to have an energy reserve after 12 solid hours of enjoying the good stuff at Six Flags. We consider ourselves good at getting the most of such situations, but we must bow to the experts!

Being in the business of selling advertising in a little old weekly newspaper we noted with interest the recently announced new rates for full page ads in the little weekly magazines we all get in our Montgomery, Dothan and Birmingham Sunday newspapers. Family Weekly charges $84,490 for a one-time page ad; with color it costs $96,225. However, if you buy the same ad in Parade, the black and white ad costs $147,080, and with color you have to shell out $180,495! Now they print a few million more copies than papers like The Elba Clipper, but those amounts of money sure dance around real comfortably in this country boy's head.

Term or Whole Life. Which should you buy?

It's not an easy decision. Because term is temporary insurance, you can normally obtain a large amount of it at little cost. Sometimes, people need that.

On the other hand, whole life is permanent insurance with level premiums and growing cash values. Sometimes, people need that.

Which should you buy? Ask me.

McDonald House Used By C.C. Families

Approximately 10 families from Coffee County have been guests of at Alabama's Ronald McDonald House since it opened two years ago. The state's "home away from home" for families who come to the Children's Hospital in Birmingham opened its doors on June 1, 1979. Today the 10-bedroom home is a place where families come to stay and share their feelings with others who also have children suffering from serious illnesses. Families at the Ronald House treat the guest facility as they would their own homes. Everyone is expected to help with the household chores. In addition to the private bedrooms, there are two common rooms, a playroom, dining room, kitchen, laundry room and quiet areas.

Many of the families who stay at the house have youngsters with cancer. Other families are at the facility because their child is in the burn center, intensive care unit or one of the nurseries at Children's. Some families stay in the house with two or three children. However, often there is only a mother who is staying at the Ronald House while her child is in one of the specialty units at the hospital.

Among those who have used the facility are David Bandstra and Glenn Johnson of Elba, and Carol Newsome of New Brockton.

The Ronald McDonald House was made possible by a non-profit organization called Children's Oncology Services of Alabama. The group encourages community support for the house and raises funds to continue operation. There is no charge to families who stay there, however each guest family is asked to make a minimum donation of $5 per night.

Clubs from throughout the state contribute to the house's Sponsor A Family Fund. With these donations, the non-profit COSA is able to continue its operation. Less than a third of the guests who use the house can make any financial contributions. However, operating expenses are more than $1,000 per month.

For more information on the facility, write to COSA, P.O. Box 76036, Birmingham, AL 35253.

Allen - Smith Wedding

The sanctuary of Woodland Grove Baptist Church was the setting Saturday, June 27, at 7 p.m. when Cindy Allen and David Smith exchanged wedding vows. The Reverend Silas Shepard of Dothan, officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Allen, of Woodland Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Sr. of Elba.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Allen Furr, of Enterprise. Miss Lynn Hudson, of Elba, sang "The Wedding Song," "That's The Way," and "The Wedding Prayer." The traditional "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner, was used as the processional, and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn was played for the recessional.

The ceremony was set in a background of two seven branched arch candelabras with white and pink roses. A mist-green chiffon gown with a beaded neck line, and a white pedestal. Swirl candelabras held focal places on either side of the pedestal. Dotted green ferns formed a background for the heart candelabras on the floor level.

Registering the guests was Miss Anita Mobley, of Victoria. This table was draped with an ecru hand-crocheted cloth, and held a crystal ball vase with single apricot gladioli enhanced by curly carnation greenery.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allen chose a delicate blue chiffon with a beaded neck line, and a white pedestal. Swirl candelabras held focal places on either side of the pedestal. Dotted green ferns formed a background for the heart candelabras on the floor level.

The groom was attended by his brother Farrel Smith of Denver, Colorado. Groomsmen were Fred Smith, Jr., brother of the groom, Johnny Dyess, cousin of the groom, Ronnie Tucker and Will Martin, all of Elba.

Little Bryan McGuirt, a nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Craig Allen and Scottie McGuirt lighted the candles. Serving as ushers were Cindy's three brothers, Clifford, Huey Wayne and Gary. Also her brother-in-law, Jim McGuirt.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a fitted white gown of organza and textured Rachel lace from the popular Mori Lee collection. Fashioned with a modified Queen Anne neckline, the fitted bodice was smothered in lace and accented with lustrous seed pearl. The modified Bishop sleeves were of organza, gathered into wide cuffs of lace.

The skirt, falling from an Empire waist, was fully flared, and extended into an elegantly scalloped cathedral length train. A tapered, crystal pleated center of organza graced the front of the skirt, and a wide chantilly lace panel, bordered with a wide band of Rachel lace, fanned out over the magnificent train.

To complement her lovely gown, Cindy chose a modified Juliet head piece covered with matching Chantilly lace to hold her finger sports clothes for their honeymoon cruise to the Bahama Islands. They are now at home in Columbus, Georgia, where David holds a responsible position with Ford Motor Credit. Cindy will shortly enroll in Columbus College to continue her studies in the Medical program.

ribbon streamers tied in love knots fell gracefully to her hem line. She carried an heirloom lace handkerchief that had been used by her sister-in-law, Cathy Smith, and Cathy's three sisters, Tina, Wilma, and Wendy, and her mother, Mrs. Casper Anderson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allen chose a delicate blue chiffon with a beaded neck line, and a white pedestal. Swirl candelabras held focal places on either side of the pedestal. Dotted green ferns formed a background for the heart candelabras on the floor level.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained at an informal reception at their home. A round Registry table was located at the entrance for the convenience of those who had not registered.

The long table covered with a white satin cloth and lace overlay, held a silver candelabrum with four white candles and a mixed arrangement of summer roses from Mrs. Poole's and Dr. and Mrs. McCreary's gardens. The four tiered cake which was excised with four miniature rose nosegays was served by Amy Curenton, of Enterprise.

A round table dressed in tan linen and lace held the groom's cake. A silver and crystal bowl overflowing with long clusters of Aurora grapes, fern and shasta daisies was banked against the chocolate cake and blended perfectly. Susie Bruce held this place of service.

Apricot mums and white candles were eye-catching on the long food table before the mantle. Crystal and silver platters held a choice variety of good food and party dainties.

The punch table was placed on the patio before a window box of variegated colors. This lovely foliage plant with gracefully fringed, finely serrated leaves was most showy in the flickering lights. A lush fern served as an evergreen near a table placed against the wall. A colorful arrangement of wild plum sprays was banked in a green planter. This bright and cherry red and yellow fruit was most attractive. Curly fern trays, interspersed with the wild plums added color and interest. This unique arrangement served as a background for a large watermelon basket filled with fresh fruit.

The bevy of charming sorority sisters of Cindy's from Troy State University, rotated in the serving lines and the conversational areas that were marked by flickering torch lamps, and natural flower-beds filled with a variety of blooming summer flowers.

Cindy and David were dressed in navy and white two-piece sports clothes for their honeymoon cruise to the Bahama Islands. They are now at home in Columbus, Georgia, where David holds a responsible position with Ford Motor Credit. Cindy will shortly enroll in Columbus College to continue her studies in the Medical program.

Sharp Contrast At Calvary Part II

In this column last week we looked at the first of four contrasts at Calvary (as described in the 27th chapter of Matthew) - the contrast between envy (which spirit moved the chief priests and elders to take the life of Jesus) and self-giving (in which spirit Jesus was moved to willingly sacrifice his life).

The second contrast is that between disloyalty (seen in the betrayal by Judas and in the fickleness of the crowd) and faithfulness (seen in the unwavering obedience of Jesus to the will of the Father - even unto death). One of the major sins that was involved in the crucifixion of Jesus was disloyalty. Judas was disloyal. He betrayed the trust that Jesus had placed in him when he chose him as a disciple. He betrayed the close relationship that Jesus had with him as a disciple. No doubt Judas had made a sincere beginning, but he failed to follow through in his commitment to Jesus. Moved by greed and, doubtless other selfish motives, he made a bargain with the chief priests to deliver Jesus into their hands for thirty pieces of silver.

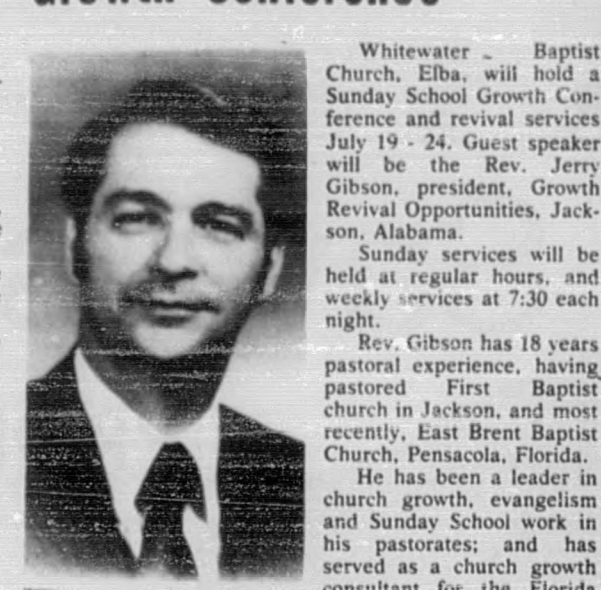

The crowd also was disloyal. Their fickleness was seen in the fact that they could be persuaded to cry out for the blood of Jesus only a few days after they had welcomed him to the city of Jerusalem with shouts of triumph (Matthew 21:8-11). The same crowd that had shouted "Hosanna to the Son of David!" at the time of His triumphant entry, now shouted "Let Him be crucified!"

In sharp contrast to the disloyalty of Judas and the crowd, we see the unwavering faithfulness of Jesus to the will of the Father. Upon the cross He was offered a cup (that is, the wine mingled with gall) that would have enabled Him to escape from the reality of pain. However, He refused that cup (Matthew 27:34). Jesus refused the cup of pain-reveler in order that He might drink from the cup of suffering that the Father will for Him - the cup that is referred to in Matthew 26:39 and 42). He was determined to carry out the will of God to the last moment of life. Thus He chose to face suffering with wide-open eyes because His suffering was to be on behalf of others and it was to be the will of the Father stands out most clearly.

Thus in the death of Jesus we find a powerful demonstration of His perfect goodness - the source of His power over sin. Because of His absolute loyalty to the will of God, He is able to redeem us from our every sin of disloyalty toward Him and His purpose for our lives.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Donaldson & Mr. Waddall

Miss Rebecca Donaldson and Mr. John Waddall were united in marriage on Saturday evening, June 27, 1981, at seven o'clock in the evening at Mr. Gilead Baptist Church. The Reverend Fred Fowler officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deron P. Donaldson of Elba, and the groom is the son of Mr. William E. Waddall Sr. and the late Mr. Waddall, also of Elba.

The wedding vows were exchanged before a beautiful floral arrangement of white gladioli, pom poms and mums. Centered in front of the arrangement was a single prayer bench, and an arch-branched candelabra with long white burning tapers stood behind. Candle tapers interspersed with fern leaves and palm trees flanked the center arrangement. A trio arrangement of white burning tapers enhanced the arch-branched candelabra and candle trees.

Single tapers nestled among pom poms embellished the windows of the sanctuary. The family pews were marked with white lace bows.

Guests entered the vestibule of the church where a table covered with a white lace cloth overladen with a mint green skirt held an open Bible and a single pink silk rose tied with a pink satin ribbon. Miss Sharon Bullard of Elba registered the guests.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Diane Donaldson of Enterprise. Mark Donaldson, brother of the bride, sang "If I Let It Be Me," and "Whither Thou Goest, I Will Follow Thee."

Immediately following the ceremony, the guests were entertained with a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Donaldson.

Large ferns graced the front porch entrance of the home. Upon entering, guests registered at a table covered with a white lace cloth overlaying a mint green skirt. A rice tree was filled with rice bags tied with mint green satin ribbons, and a large mint green bow was nestled in the center of the tree.

They were attired in white tuxedos and wore boutonnieres of a single pink carnation and baby's breath. The groom also wore a white tuxedo and his boutonniere was a white double rosebud and baby's breath. Steve Waddall served as ringbearer. His attire was identical to the groomsmen and he carried a satin heart-shaped pillow edged with lace and streamers tied with love knots.

VIEWS FROM THE PRESSBOX

With the 1981 football season only 43 days away, Elba's Coach Mack Wood is anything but excited about the opening of fall practice. Wood stated he has had the poorest participation in the summer conditioning program since he has been here, and added the team seems to have no leadership at all. Wood said only a handful of boys shows up to work out, and he felt it could put the team behind when the season starts.

I don't know why the boys aren't working out as in the past, but once practice starts, I'm sure the coaches will have 'em working as hard as anyone around. They had better be—it's going to be a tough season.

Hopes were high last week that Curt Barnes would be the new basketball coach at Elba by now, but something fell through at the last minute and at last report we are still looking. There seems to be a shortage of coaches when you need one, but when you don't need one, there are good men available everywhere. Oh well, I'm sure Coach Wood will find the best coach he can that will get our basketball program to the top!

Speaking of coaches—we've got the dean of coaches in Area 3 football circles. Yep, Coach Wood is in only his fourth year at Elba, but that makes him the "old man" in the Area. All the head men at Brundidge, Geneva, Opp, Dale County, Andalusia, Troy and Ashford have been there less than 3 years, and Geneva, Opp, Dale County and Andalusia all have first-year men in '81. The annual game of musical chairs is getting more and more popular every year.

Time to get back to baseball and to remind everyone that Elba will be hosting the sub-district Dixie Youth League Baseball Tournament starting Friday night at 6:00 p.m. and running through at least next Tuesday. Five teams will be in the double elimination event, including our own Elba All-Stars. There will be a small admission charge to help finance the expenses of the tourney, but the games will still be more than a bargain for anyone who likes to watch baseball. I urge everyone from Elba to come out and show all the visitors we support our youth and baseball in our town 100%!

Congratulations to both Foxfire Sporting Goods and The Little Beaver People's Bank for qualifying for the state Class A women's and men's tournaments. To make it to state is quite a feat, but to make it in a class as high as Class A is a real achievement. Both teams will leave in 2 weeks to compete at state, and I wish 'em all the luck in the world.

I'm probably going to catch a lot of flussing, but in 2 weeks I'm going to publish the 1st annual All City Softball Teams in both the men's and women's leagues. The players selected won't get a plaque or a trophy, but they will be honored as the best in the city at their position. The coaches will be asked to help in the selections, but the umpires will also make recommendations, along with the scorekeepers. If it turns out well, we'll do it every summer—if not, we'll just let it die.

Legal Eagles & Foxfire Roll Along In Women's League

The recent rainy weather continued to plague the Women's Softball League last week as only two games were played. With only one night of action left in the season, the standings are Foxfire Sporting Goods 11-0, Legal Eagles 7-4, Loggers 2-9 and King Realty 2-9.

A GOOD CROP—Mercer Smith, the son of Don and Peggy Smith of Enterprise, is admiring his corn crop. This corn has the potential of producing 100 bushels per acre. Coffee County's early yield projection is 50 bushels per acre, 10 bushels above last year's county average.

Govt. testing new energy saving ideas

The U.S. Department of Transportation is cooperating with the trucking industry by testing "free of charge" devices, products, and concepts designed to improve the fuel economy of trucks and buses.

Testing will be conducted by the Department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration with the results being provided to truck and bus companies.

Among other items, engineers expect to test new ideas and products relating to fan-clutches, tires, engine additives, super slipper oils, rear axles, and aerodynamic designs.

Tests will be run using procedures designed and approved by the Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Trucking Associations.

Those interested in requesting tests of trucks and bus fuel saving devices should write to: Marcus Smith, Alabama Department of Energy, 25 Washington Avenue, Montgomery, AL 36130.

CONVENTION

Coffee County is hosting the two-day Alabama Christmas Tree Growers Association annual convention this weekend. Headquarters for the growers association annual convention will be at the Enterprise Motel. Over 100 growers and interested persons state wide are expected to attend. After the opening session, a banquet will be held Friday night.

On Saturday the group will meet at the Farm Center in New Brockton for a morning meeting. After lunch the association will tour the Christmas tree plantation of Jack Larry and Roger Wise of Route 3, Elba.

FIRE BLIGHT

I have had several calls on pear trees showing brownish-black and dropping off. This damaging disease is fire blight. Ordinarily, the trees are not killed, but they are weakened if the disease is severe. Fire blight year after year will kill a pear tree. Agri-Strep is recommended for control of this disease. The material must be applied early in the spring when the first blooms appear on the pear tree. Making an application at this time of the year would not do any good. If you have pear trees, don't wait for the disease to develop next year, but go ahead and spray when the first blooms appear. Then a week or so later and then again a week to 10 days later. Three sprayings should give excellent control of fire blight. You can't cure it. It must be prevented.

DAMAGING

The lesser cornstalk borer is not nearly as severe this year as it was last year—and hope growers can say this 6 weeks from now. We have a lot of dry areas in the county. Sandy fields planted to peanuts in these dry areas are extremely susceptible to a buildup of the lesser cornstalk borer. Watch your fields closely during the dry, hot days. If damaging numbers begin showing up, go ahead and apply Lorsban granules, Parathion or Dyfused. Follow the label carefully. If you have fields which are susceptible and it continues somewhat dry in those fields, watch carefully for this damaging insect and be ready to apply an insecticide quickly.

NUTRITIOUS

Pork is a high value food which we produce in abundance here in Coffee County. A lot of people don't realize that pork is a good source of vitamins. It is an excellent food source for thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, vitamin B-6 and vitamin B-10.

We have a nice color illustrated leaflet made available by the Alabama Pork Producers Association on "Facts About Pork". It contains one month watering information about pork and also some pork recipes. Call us if you would like to have a copy.

WORMS

We are beginning to see some worms in peanuts and to a lesser extent in soybeans. Most farmers know that both peanuts and soybeans can stand a considerable amount of foliage damage without lowering the yield.

If you see a few worms in one or two places in the fields, don't go out and apply an insecticide to the entire field. Wait and see if a damaging infestation builds up. Many times natural predators will take care of the first worm buildup and insecticides will not be necessary. It is a mistake to rush out and apply chemicals when you first notice a few worms. First, you are wasting some money, and secondly you will kill off a lot of beneficials and increase your cost of color covering. There is a determination based on the number of worms per linear foot. Our usual recommendation is to apply an insecticide when you find four or more worms per linear foot of row.

PRIZES FOR CO-OP MEETING—Susie Adams, a receptionist for the Covington Electric Co-op, displays a freezer which will be one of the many prizes given away during the annual members meeting of the Co-op on July 30. The top prize will be a 1974 pickup truck, and the third prize will be a ceiling fan. Drawings will also be held for 30 other small electrical appliances and gifts.

COFFEE CORRESPONDENCE

ERROR! MISTAKE!

If you have the book "Food Preservation in Alabama," the one which has a gold color covering, there is an error on page 43 you'll need to correct. The recipe is Bread and Butter Squash Pickles. It should read 8 cups thinly sliced yellow summer squash instead of 3 cups.

Thanks for making this correction.

ZIPPER TIP

Keep the "zip" in your zippers by taking these precautions. Make sure they are closed before washing or drycleaning a garment.

When pressing, keep the zipper closed. Bring the iron just to the edge. Never place a bar of soap or a commercial lubricant to lubricate it.

REDUCE SALT INTAKE

A good many people today are becoming more concerned about salt and the role it plays in high blood pressure. Since most of us consume more salt than we need, it makes sense to cut down on our salt intake.

You can reduce your salt intake by cutting down on the amount of salt added to foods during cooking and by not adding salt to foods at the table.

Use these foods sparingly because of high sodium content—bouillon cubes, Worcestershire and soy sauces, mustard, catsup, meat tenderizers, monosodium glutamate, pickles and relishes, and seasoning salts such as garlic salt, onion salt and celery salt.

Even processed foods, especially canned soups, protein meats and cheeses and TV dinners—are high in salt. Instead of these foods mentioned, eat fresh fruits and plain frozen vegetables in place of canned or seasoned frozen vegetables with salt added.

Limit your intake of salty snacks such as potato chips and corn chips, pretzels, salted nuts and crackers.

WATERMELON SELECTION

Although there is no completely reliable method for selecting a good uncut melon, there are some guides to aid you in making a good selection. First, look for a watermelon that is firm and symmetrical with ends that are filled out and rounded.

The surface of the rind should look velvety or slightly dull. Also, look for a creamy color on the underside of the melon.

An immature melon will ripen further at room temperature, but remember, a whole watermelon will need at least 12 hours to chill thoroughly in the refrigerator.

Unless a watermelon is immature, store it in the refrigerator. Wrap pieces or halves to prevent the cut surface from drying out. A good wrapping also prevents the melon's aroma from spreading to other foods in the refrigerator.

CRYSTALS IN JELLY?

What causes sugar crystals in jelly? There are several answers. First, too much sugar may have been used. Accurate measurements and following the recipe is important. Other reasons are too little acid, over-cooking, too long a delay in sealing jelly, or undissolved sugar sticking to sides of the boiler.

For other information on jelly making, feel free to call our office at 894-5596 or 897-2776.

The inspiration for Robert Louis Stevenson's Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde was William Brodie, an eighteenth century cabinet-maker, and head of his union, member of the Edinburgh town council and a respected businessman, who, by night, was a masked thief and leader of a gang of robbers.
